OUR STORY

Brent's Deli, where everyone who sits at our table is family...

At Brent's Deli, we combine family values with quality ingredients for a recipe of long-standing success. Voted as one of the best delicatessens in Los Angeles and Southern California, the story of Brent's Deli begins well before we opened our doors in 1967. For years, Brent's Deli founder Ron Peskin had worked behind the counter at various delis throughout the San Fernando Valley, including his uncle's establishment. When he was offered a position as manager at a declining deli in Northridge, Peskin respectfully turned it down. However, the owner eventually offered to sell him the business, and despite advice against it, Ron Peskin and his wife Patricia bought Brent's Deli and forged into the delicatessen and restaurant scene with just one delivery truck and 11 employees. They had a young son named Brent, so the deli gladly kept its name.

"For the first year-and-a-half, I never took a day off," Ron Peskin reminisces. "I made every single sandwich because I wanted each one to be perfect." And so, Brent's became famous for our mouthwatering reuben sandwich, hand-sliced lox and rich desserts. From attention to detail and excellent customer service, Brent's Deli follows in Peskin's footsteps. These days, we're still a family-run and operated business with Ron's son Brent, daughter Carie, son-in-law Marc and granddaughters Taylor and Jordan all working as members of the restaurant's management team. Due to our hands-on approach over the years, Brent's Deli has grown to become one of the best delicatessens in the state—and nation!

A combination of high standards, quality food and taste of home is what sets Brent's Deli apart from other Los Angeles area eateries. Today, our mission remains the same: to be the best family-owned delicatessen and restaurant in the nation. Because making you feel right at home is what keeps our customers coming back time and time again.
